

Mrs Matthews - Covid catch-up teacher

I am passionate about ensuring the children are catching up on the schoolwork missed during the pandemic. There are many “gaps” in their learning that need to be filled. To progress through the years at school children rely on prior knowledge to then develop a deeper understanding of the topic being explored. Without this knowledge it is impossible to build as there is no foundation of information there. I feel very strongly about supporting the children in this across all areas of the curriculum as they are all equally as important.
